AIMS

The ECOLOGICAL SOCIETY OF AMERICA was founded in 1915 for the purpose of unifying the sciences of ecology, stimulating research in all aspects of the discipline, encouraging communication among ecologists, and promoting the responsible application of ecological data and principles to the solution of environmental problems. Ecology is the scientific discipline that is concerned with the relationships between organisms and their past, present, and future environments. These relationships include physiological responses of individuals, structure and dynamics of populations, interactions among species, organization of biological communities, and processing of energy and matter in ecosystems.

MEMBERSHIP

Membership is open to persons who are interested in the advancement of ecology or its applications, and to those who are engaged in any aspect of the study of organisms in relation to environment. The classes of membership and their annual dues for 2002 are as follows:

Regular member:		Student member:	$25.00
Income level	Dues	Life member:	Contact Member and Subscriber Services (see below)

Special membership rates are available for individuals in developing countries. Contact Member and Subscriber services (address below) for details.

PUBLICATIONS

The Society publishes a bulletin, three print journals, and an electronic data archive. The BULLETIN OF THE ECOLOGICAL SOCIETY OF AMERICA, issued online quarterly, contains announcements of meetings of the Society and related organizations, programs, awards, articles, and items of current interest to members. The journal ECOLOGY, issued monthly, publishes essays and articles that report and interpret the results of original scientific research in basic and applied ecology. ECOLOGICAL MONOGRAPHS is a quarterly journal for longer ecological research articles. ECOLOGICAL APPLICATIONS, published six times per year, contains ecological research and discussion papers that have specific relevance to environmental management and policy. ECOLOGICAL ARCHIVES is published on the Internet at <<http://esa.sdsc.edu/Archive>> and contains supplemental material to ESA journal articles and data papers.

No responsibility for the views expressed by the authors in ESA publications is assumed by the editors or the publisher, the Ecological Society of America.
